Open these pages, step through these doors, and enter the most happening party of this millinium.

Savor the memories preserved within these covers. Listen for that bell once again. Feel that freezing cold or boiling hot fuzzy feeling we all experienced in one classroom or another. Smell the fresh baking of the foods room. Go ahead, taste the cafeteria food. And see the faces of your most treasured buddies who partied with you all year long.

Tantasqua, this is your 1999 Yearbook: Enjoy it!

Jeekus Crowe! If you want to see dedication, just look at Mr. James Allen: Chairman of the mathematics department, curriculum supervisor, member of Professional Development Committee, Tantasqua 2000 project contributor, computer tech support technician, and technology committee member are just some of the commitments Mr. Allen dedicates himself to. Mr. Allen has coached basketball, football, and math teams. The town of Brookfield has trusted him with the responsibilities of Town Moderator for years now.

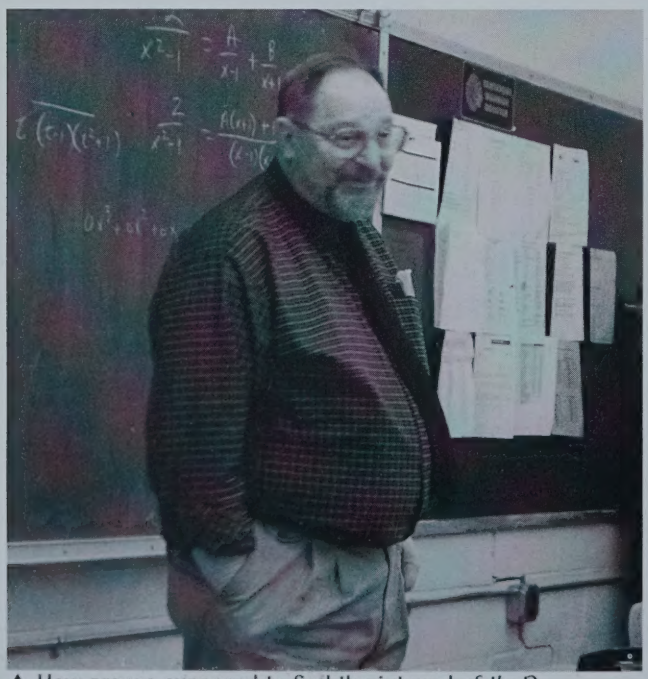
Yet above all else, Mr. Allen is a teacher.

Mr. Allen was born and bred in Brookfield, graduating with the last class of Brookfield High School. He proceeded directly from central Massachusetts to the sea, joining the Navy to participate in the invasion of Lebanon during the 1950s. He was a radio man then, which may account for occasional urges to teach class in Morse code. Mr. Allen left the Navy for college, obtaining a B.S. in Education from Worcester State and also attended Holy Cross, Clark, and University of Alabama. He arrived at Tantasqua in 1963 and has since taught almost every existing math class in grades seven through twelve.

His twenty-five year career at Tantasqua has distinguished him as a

▼ The water award, testament to Tantasqua's long-standing water problem

Saluting Mr. Allen:



▲ How are we supposed to find the integral of that?

▲ Mr. Allen never travels without his trusty mathetical tools dedicated faculty member time after time. Mr. Allen's classroom demeanor, after-school availability, consistent computer assistance, and genuine concern for his students should suffice as demonstrations, but anyone who wants a more dramatic example need only remember back to Mr. Allen's football coaching days, when he broke a leg on the field and insisted on continuing to conduct practice from the first aid sled.

Mr. Allen also received the "Water Award" for his decision making when the school's water supply stopped working. In the absence of all administration, Mr. Allen himself notified the busses and closed the school, sending students home early.

Mr. Allen is quick witted, always ready with a quip, both during and after school. He has a good mind, though he's too humble to admit it, and a good soul to go with that mind.

His judgement and morality are above all question. Mr. Allen is the "Jimminy Cricket" of Tantasqua.

Away from Tantasqua, Mr. Allen cares for both his wife and mother, and keeps touch with his three children: David, Karen, and Laura, all alumni of Tantasqua.

Mr. Allen is an outstanding human being. He has been known to warn students that "if thunder don't get you, lightning will", earning him the affectionate nickname of "Ol' Thunder and Lightning". And, though it may not be exactly what Mr. Allen was thinking of when he coined the phrase, every one of his students has been touched in some way by the kindness, caring, and dedication of Mr. Allen. It is for this dedication that the yearbook staff humbly dedicates this yearbook to Mr. James Allen.

A Humble Gentleman

▲ Little Mr. Allen--isn't he cute!

▲ Jeekus Crowe! This is one hard problem!

It's 1999, the year to party. And if anyone knows how to do it best, it's the students of Tantasqua.

Student Life

The students of Tantasqua lead very unique lives apart from taking classes at this fine institution.

They're very busy, from having after-school jobs, to being involved with activities other than the normal extra-curriculars. There are even students talented enough to be in their own music bands.

With not much to do in not one, but five small towns, the students take it upon themselves to pass the time in fun, interesting ways.

Tantasquians always know how to make lemonade from lemons, and they manage to give a new meaning to the phrase, "We're gonna party like it's 1999!"

"Tantasquians always know how to make lemonade from lemons."

Prom 1998
"We've got tonight"

It's May 15, 1998. Everyone attending the prom is donning their best.

For most people the evening begins on the Sturbridge Common, where sounds of cameras clicking and shrieks of people trying to escape the clutches of video cameras echo.

Once they can tear themselves away from their ravaging parents, everyone heads to Mechanics Hall to forget about life for a while and just eat and dance.

And the eating is great and the dancing is great and then it's all over.

As people walk out, the seniors realize this is their last high school prom forever and the juniors wonder if the next year's prom will even compare, but they all think, "We've got tonight--and these really cool mugs and picture frames!"

▼ Everybody's gettin' jiggy with it!

▼ Chelsea Foley and Vickie Teasdale seem somewhat embarrassed to be seen with Mike Dowling and Dave Landine

▲ Mechanics Hall -- the place where it all goes down

▲ You can tell love is in the air between Shawna Hughes and Andy Haley

▼ Mike Shields and Michele Rogalski smile happily as they dance the night away

▲ Jack be nimble, Jack be quick, try not to fall under that limbo stick!

▲ Dave Anderson and Monique Perron – looks like you two have your eyes on somebody else!

Nixing the Court

At previous proms, students voted for their prom king and queen based on appearance and personality. Since the prom is a very special event and everyone tries to look their best (to some people this means spending a fortune on a tux/dress), this typically resulted in two happy people and about 300 upset people. Sometimes there was crying and negative remarks being made, so people would leave after the queen was announced.

Then two years ago the prom committee decided to nix the court, so people have stayed for the entire prom and have had a wonderful time as opposed to leaving earlier and being miserable.

Warrior Pride

With spirit weeks, pep rallies, and entire spirit nights, the students of Tantasqua have always been excited to display school spirit. One spirit event in particular that they especially enjoy is the Hall Decorating contests. This year the juniors really showed their Halloween spirit by spookifying their hallway, and the sophomores took the cake for decking the halls during the holiday season. There was also the pep rally that everyone enjoyed. What could be better than getting out of classes to prove which class had the most spirit? And who could forget the wacky spirit weeks? College logo day and sweatpants day seem to be everyone's favorite, but days like clash day and weird hair day are always amusing. All in all, Tantasquians take pride in their school and all it has to offer. They stand by their sports teams through thick and thin, and each class always tries to have the most spirit. But no matter what, the Warrior pride always shines through.

▼ Monique Perron looking especially comfy on sweatpants day

▼ David Dionne shakes his head in dismay as his brother, Tom, still hasn't learned you can only play one instrument at a time

Spirit Night

On November 7, the Student Council sponsored the second annual Spirit Night. Spirit Night is a night of friendly competitions between the classes. Some of the games included were a tug-of-war, tricycle races, pogo stick relays, and the ever-so-messy (but tasty) pie-eating contest. This year's turnout was small, but everyone that attended had a great time.

▼ Pat Donnelly and Tammy Hicks--AAAH! They're attached!

▼ Marci Dargan and Christine Banks take a break to smile for the camera. Boy, do they look like they've been partying like it's 1999!

▲ Emily Tombino looks absolutely fabulous

The Homecoming

The students of Tantasqua determined the Homecoming court this year. Nominations were made by secret ballot during the lunches.

The court consisted of Caity Kimball, Katie Flynn, Vickie Teasdale, Monique Perron, Meghan McKinstry, Tom LaPrade, Brendan Malvey, Mike Shields, Justin Mathiau, and Vinny Mazzaferro. All of them are very involved with the school from student council, to sports, to community service, and they were all equally deserving of the title.

It was definitely a tough choice and at the dance, students selected Meghan McKinstry, the senior class President, and Vinny Mazzaferro, the captain of the indoor and outdoor track teams. The happy couple were proud to reign as King and Queen of Tantasqua until next year's royalty are chosen by the student body.

Homecoming 1998

"Secret Garden"

This year's Homecoming dance sponsored by the Student Council was held on October 14. Everyone thought this was earlier than normal, considering that it is usually held in November. There is a process involved in picking the date, though; it's held the Saturday of or preceding the date the football team returns to their home field after three away games. This year the game happened to be scheduled much earlier. The Warriors played Bartlett on the 13th. It was an intense game and the team gave it their all.

With 32 seconds left in the game, Bartlett scored. Our dedicated team walked away with a defeat, but this didn't stop everyone from having a blast at the dance the following night.

They danced and partied like it was already 1999.

King and Queen

▲ Homecoming queen and king, Meghan McKinstry and Vinny Mazzaferro rejoice with each other in their victory

▲ Sara Jane Gelinas breaks out the hula dancing. Where's the grass skirt?

▼ Bethany Langlois is posing for perfection

▼ It looks as though Jill Braun is dancing on water

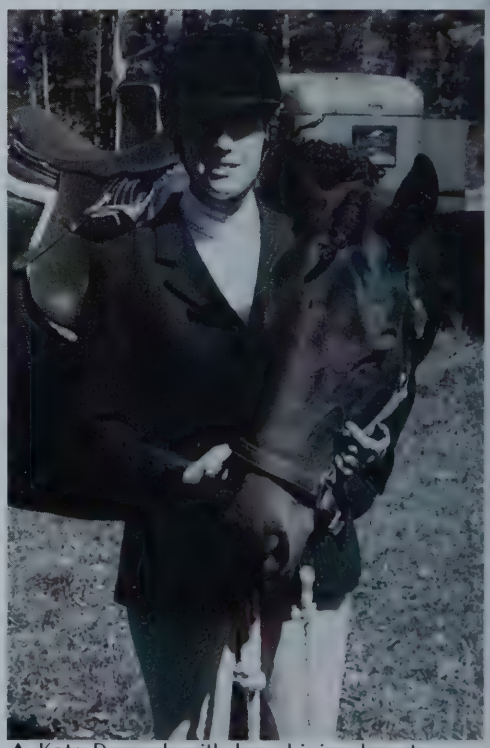
▲ Everybody was kung-foo fighting.... or maybe just Ricky Ricci.

Outside Activities

Despite the fact that we are busy with homework, sports, and extracurricular activities, students find a need to get out and explore activities not available at Tantasqua.

Activities on the side include water skiing, scuba-diving, and race car driving--a broad range of interests that makes the student body of Tantasqua diverse and fascinating.

▲ Scott Riquier gears up to go under the sea



▲ Kate Drenzek with her shining beauty

▲ Mario Treadway, Zac Adams, and Dino Nappi go for height

▲ Keith Laferriere getting set to go

▲ Joe Chojnowski and Nick Powers: don't you guys know you can't ski unless the skis are on your feet?

Tantasqua Bands

Music is a common thread shared by nearly all teenagers. After all, who hasn't turned on the stereo while doing homework or gone to a concert with some friends? Similarly, who hasn't entertained thoughts of being a rock star, at least once? It's a thought that many Tantasquians share, apparently, judging by the number of bands sprouting up in our midst. Ranging from punk to hardcore to alternative, Tantasqua bands are as talented as they are original -- and that's no lie.

▼ Like Local H and Folk Implosion, Ben Kinsberg (L) and Kevin Ramsdell (R) play as a duo in their alternative band, Feverfew.

The Worldwide Dryer Company

Clocking in as the oldest band at Tantasqua, two and a half years strong, The Worldwide Dryer Company has gone through five drummers and a bassist, and changed from a pop cover band to a spacerock-alternative band who play their own songs.

The band released an album this school year, titled "Dreaming in Patterns," and plans to play many local shows in support of it.

Tantasqua Weekly News

Erin Artruc saying to Steve Boutwell, "If I have to tell you one more time to turn on the mike, I'm gonna smack you."

Anyone who has stayed late on a Thursday has noticed the sounds and commotion coming from the TV studio. People often wonder exactly what goes on there during these times. Well, the various crew members of Tantasqua Weekly News and regular guests have been putting together the longest running student run news program. There is a mixture of news, sports, local events, and the famous segments of general nonsense on TWN.

As much fun as people see, after the 5 o'clock bus, it comes down to a few loyal students who stay late, sometimes as late as 8:30, finishing up segments and compiling them all onto the master tape. What usually follows is one grumpy student who has to stay cleaning up all the food wrappers.

Look for the weekly show airing on the local access channel, and watch for someone you know talking about just how wonderful the cafeteria's chicken nuggets taste.

"If you think you can do it better, then do it yourself," says Amber Bansak

One Act Play Competition

Drama

This year the sophomores did a parody of The Iliad and The Odyssey, directed by Ms. Joseph. The play was called "The Idiot and the Oddity" and consisted of a fairly large cast. Polaris, played by Megan Bencivini, tries to show Protaganis (Graham Phillips) that revenge, suicide, and temptation are wrong, in hopes that this will earn her the title of being a goddess. This doesn't quite work out as she expected, but the play was entertaining nonetheless.

The juniors performed "Why Do We Laugh?" directed by Kate Piatt-Eckert. The story focused on a couple at different stages in their relationship. Eliza Moore and Jacob Moore play Meredith Wilfred and Andrew Powers at age five. Brynn Logiovino and Steve Swift play the pair at age fifteen, Jyll Thibodeau and Nick Ferron play them at forty-five and Gillian Reagan and Dan Niejadlik play them at eighty-five. The play was very fervent and wonderfully performed.

Ms. Reece directed this year's senior one-act play. The play was called "The Omelet Murder Case", a farce on the original Shakespearean play "Hamlet." The storyline centers around a less than intelligent detective, Shake Speare, played by Keith St. Laurent, as he unsuccessfully attempts to solve the mystery of the death of Hamlet's father. Matt McGuinness played Hamlet and the crazy woman crushing on him was played by Sandra Falls. The society queen and widow, Gertrude Elsinore, was played by a promiscuous Kelli Metcalf, and her late husband's brother, also her present husband, was played by Tim Vasil. Monique Attallah played the typical French maid of the play and a talented A.J. Awan acted her voluptuous sister. The play ends with a rare showing of intelligence by Shake Speare's secretary, Miss Marlowe, played by an energetic Caity Kimball.

The juniors took the cake this year for having the best one act play, but they were all entertaining. Best Supporting Actress went to Caity Kimball, Best Supporting Actor to Dan Niejadlik, Best Actress to Brynn Logiovino, and Best Actor to Keith St. Laurent. Jim Martin received the Best Death award for committing suicide numerous times in the sophomore play, and Ashley Korch received an honorable mention as well.

▲ Eliza Moore, Jacob Moore, Brynn Logiovino, Steve Swift, Jyll Thibodeau, Nick Ferron, Gillian Reagan, and Dan Niejadlik portraying the same couple at different ages.

▼ Keith St. Laurent and Caity Kimball trying to crack the "Omelet Murder Case"

▲ The cast of the sophomore one act play, togas and all

"Once Upon a Mattress"

This year's spring musical, "Once Upon a Mattress" is also known as the popular children's story, "The Princess and the Pea". The minstrel, played by Jared Adams, narrates the tale.

Dan Looney plays Harry, a young knight who impregnates his love, Larkin, played by Kelly Jetti. They must get married before she gives birth; otherwise she'll be banished. However, nobody in the kingdom is allowed to get married until Prince Dauntless, acted by Tom Olszta, is wed.

However, his overbearing mother, the queen, played by Bethany Holstrom, presents an impossible test to every woman that wants to marry him to see if she is a true princess. Nobody can ever pass it because it's so ridiculous, but one day a young woman comes to the kingdom claiming to be a princess. Melissa Madru plays this mysterious woman.

The queen decides to test her by making her sleep on twenty mattresses with one pea underneath all of them. If she notices it, then indeed she is a true princess, and indeed she is. This musical was very entertaining and humorous, packed with a very talented cast.

Student Jobs

For some, after-school jobs are something to do just to waste time so you don't have to go home right after school and start the tedious homework process. For others, a job entails doing something you really enjoy (like pushing grocery carts around the Shaw's parking lot). And still, for others, they're about gaining a sense of responsibility (you know the one where you learn to be responsible enough to go to work every day you're supposed to).

But we all know the main purpose for getting a job is to make that wonderful thing called money. Whether it be spending money, college tuition money, or car money, it's money and those green papers that look like monopoly bills are something students need, especially if we want to party like it's 1999.

Luckily, many local businesses offer jobs well suited for students. Folding clothes at Maurice the Pants Man, bussing tables at one of the many area restaurants, or even putting books away are a few of the various jobs that provide a source of income for Tantasquians.

A Publick House Employee

The Publick House has employed Caity Kimball for two years. She works as a hostess, a busser, and occasionally a supervisor. Typically, in the summer, Caity works thirty-five hour weeks and during the school year she works fifteen to twenty hour weeks, making a little more than minimum wage.

She enjoys working at the Publick House because she gets to work with many other students from Tantasqua other nice coworkers. Caity also likes the fact that she had a chance to climb the corporate ladder; when she started there she was just another hostess that nobody really cared about, but now she has the respect of her coworkers and it really shows, given the amount of responsibility that has been given to her.

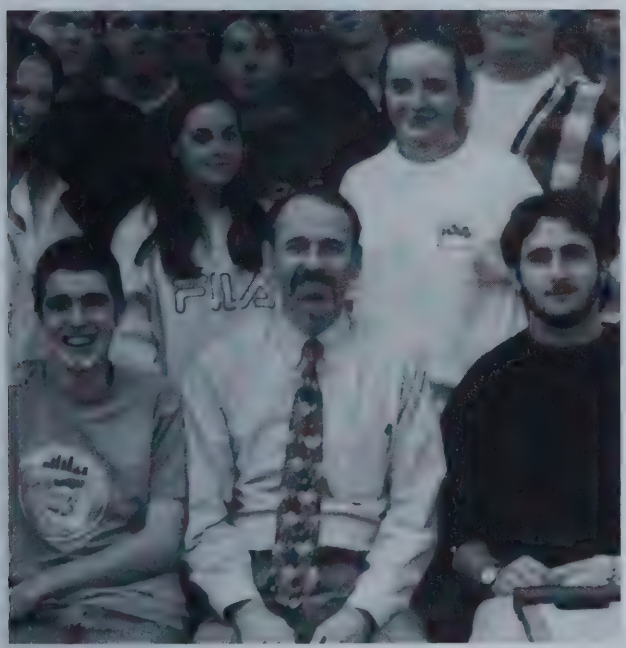
Faculty



The faculty and administration of Tantasqua strive to help students grow and prepare for the future. Many of the faculty members are dedicated alumni, giving back to the Tantasqua community a piece of what they themselves received here years ago.

We have an exceptionally youthful faculty who are learning along with the students. Interspersed with the youthful faculty are three former principals and some senior members who generously share a lifetime of knowledge.

Dedicated to teaching, the faculty is striving to form close bonds with students. It is ready to teach like it's 1999.

Despite a few flaws on the surface, our school has maintained a neat appearance for many years. This is largely due to the dedicated work of our custodial staff.

Though there are many factors working against them, the Tantasqua custodians keep our building clean and functional for our continued use. Sure some of the rooms are cold, and yes we may have a leak here or there, but by continually "bandaging" our building, the custodial staff has managed to avoid any major catastrophes thus far. However, every day brings something new (i.e. exploding floors, power failures, etc.) and we wish our custodians the best of luck.

Nineteen ninety-nine–it's a big year, not only for Tantasqua, but for the world. The end of the millennium–the end of the century–perhaps even the end of it all.

Stop the gloomy attitude, and look at the up-side! This year at Tantasqua will be better than any other. This is going to be the year that our teams go, fight, and win. Projects, whether scholastic papers or extracurricular, will be the best yet. School spirit can rightfully be at its prime. Seniors will celebrate their graduation, the Juniors their entrance to their last year of high school. Sophomores can rejoice with larger lockers, while the freshmen will happily find themselves reunited with their peers from across the street.

"What is up with that water?"

Nineteen ninety-nine: this year, this day, this moment is something that must be appreciated now, before it fades to a mere memory.

Think of all the memories you have of Tantasqua... Some are good, some are bad, some probably edging on the bizarre (What is up with that water?). Sure, some memories you wish didn't exist, and others you may wish could reoccur, but don't dwell on the bad.

Tantasqua, we have opportunities. We've got talent. We've got creativity. We've got potential. We still have time. So, lets try to add to those good memories, make every next moment the best, and CELEBRATE! Its 1999, Tantasqua! LET'S PARTY!!!

ke It's 1999!

2000 VS 2001

What is the real millenium?

Year 2000 is the generally accepted millenium, yet some argue that 2001 deserves the title.

There is no year 0 A.D., so the millenium started in 1 AD, and since year 2000 is not exactly 2000 years after the first, 2001 can be considered the start of the new millenium.

What do you think?

The year--1999, the setting--Tantasqua, the cast--the Seniors, the mood--celebration.

Seniors

It's the end of the world as we know it. For four long years we've traveled the halls of this school.

Crammed between these rows of lockers, we've laughed, we've cried, and we've celebrated our years together. We've made it through tests, games, concerts, and every other imaginable event. We will leave Tantasqua to find careers, college, and success.

These four years have been our triumph. And this, 1999, our final year, will be our celebration.

"These four years have been our triumph."

Class Scholars

▲ Academic Division: Tim Vasil, Sandra Falls, Clayton Donahue, Christina Mancini
Technical Division: Kevin Shaw, Jr.

The top members of the graduating class are invited to speak at graduation, but this single event only represents the culmination of the dedicated effort pent throughout their high school careers.

Tim, Sandra, Clayton, Christina, and Kevin have given Tantasqua their very best. They have provided a scale with which we all measure our strengths and our struggles. They have been true driving forces in our school and have motivated all of us to succeed.

"They have given Tantasqua their very best."

Class Officers

▲ Mark Krans – Treasurer, Monique Perron – Secretary, Megan McKinstry – President, Craig Olszta – Technical Vice President, Brendan Malvey – Vice President

The senior class officers have been busy this year meeting on a regular basis to plan fundraising activities including a car wash, a T-shirt sale, a powder-puff football game, and quarter war against Southbridge High School.

The Senior Class Student Council members have also worked hard in organizing the senior class trip.

"They have become a great team."

The officers came in as individuals, but with the support of other members of the class and class advisors, they have become a great team.

About thirty years ago, a jubilant senior class celebrated their graduation by planting a simple tree in the middle of their chool's forum. This tree was meant to stand forever s a symbol of the growth of knowledge at Tantasqua, s the towns surronding this school and its students rew just as quickly as that little tree.

Today, we face another celebration. The year 000 is around the corner, and, with the dawning of new millinium, a new Tantasqua will rise. This new uilding will deliver essential things to our region's rowing student population - many more classrooms, lean water, stable walls, heat, perhaps another olor besides hospital green for the walls - while aking away the one structure we as a student body ave come to identify with our adolescent years - that ld building we all know to be Tantasqua.

We leave our old building to its inevitable doom vith a feeling of remorse. We've spent seven hours day, 1260 hours per year, in this building. It may e old, it may have its faults, but this building has ecome a part of our lives. So, as the building ommittee hails the new school with cheers and anners, and our old school faces bulldozers and vrecking balls, let us celebrate the years we had with his good old building with reflections of the daily ythym of our high school lives. Celebrate the little hings in life, because those little seeds may grow to e great big trees.

School

"It'll be kind of sad to see this old building go."
"Yeah, I'm sure the new school will be great and all, but good ol' Tantasqua's simply one of a kind."
"Personality."
"Pizzazz."
"Potholes. You can't forget those... as if waking up for the drive to school isn't hard enough, the sudden dips in the parking lot put you in a great mood to walk across the football field..."
"...through rain, mud, snow, and ice..."
"You always did want to become a figure skater."
"...then up the hill at a 90 degree angle...well, maybe more like 45 degrees."
"No, it is a 90 degree angle. Don't trip."
"You know 'the hill' won't exist much longer."
"We'd better take it all in while we still can."
"Actually, I'd rather hold my breath."
"Is there anyone we know over there?"
"Well, I see a faint outline of a person... or five in that smog."
"Very faint."
"Let's get inside, it's chilly out today."
"Yeah... it's not much warmer inside. Do you think we'll have heat today?"
"Do you hear that pinging noise? Heat's a possibility."
"We'll have heat in at least half of our classes... The elves are back to work."

▼ Mmm, mmm, good!

▼ Where's Waldo?

"Elves?"
"That pinging noise... elves with hammers. 'Old Faithful'... elves in the mood for a geyser of clear water."
"I think the elves have the right idea about the water."
"Well, not every school can say they have bottled water."
"Just as every school can't say they have WARNING signs plastered to their bubblers."
"What can I say? Tantasqua's unique."
You're right about the elves. They explain the missing girl's senior bathroom doorknob and that mysterious dribble of brown stuff leaking down the wall outside of Mr. Newton's room."
"How's that?"
"As for the doorknob, we must have some pretty clever elves who stole it to supply a decent sized peek hole into the girl's room."
"True, true... Now I've gotta hear about this brown gunk outside of Mr. Newton's room."
"That one's simple. An elf just really had to 'go'."
"Go? Go where?"
"You know! 'GO'!"
"Ohhh... I see. It must have been all of that clear water."
"Let's go down to the cafeteria and pick up some Phat Snacks."
"Sounds like a plan- what are you going to get? I can't decide between chocolate or something more on the healthy side... Strawberry Pop Tarts with frosting and sprinkles."
"Maybe I'll just buy a pen... mine's somewhere in my locker and I don't think I'll see it again."
"Those elves really do have sticky fingers, don't they?"
"I don't think it's the elves. When's the last time you've actually cleaned your locker?"
"Well... I stopped when it started to smell."
"Oh. I think I ate that Pop Tart too quickly. My stomach doesn't feel too hot."
"Don't worry. We'll peek into Mr. Earls' room before we get some info in the guidance office."
"Why Mr. Earls' room?"
"His room's painted the color of Peptol Bismol."
"It's worth a shot... nooo, it's not helping any. So why don't we scurry on to guidance?"

And who said the school mascot is the warrior? ▶

Top 10 Perks of THS

10. The desks without a restrictive front bar.
9. Decent lunches for only $1.25.
8. Project Adventure
7. The amphitheater (may double as omnitheater after dark).
6. The mysterious bomb shelter. (Did anyone ever emerge alive?)
5. The Hill
4. Ziggy and Scuttles, every teacher's (and student's) pet!
3. Open-air hallways.
2. The Forum with its Charlie Brown tree.
1. Belmont Springs gourmet water.

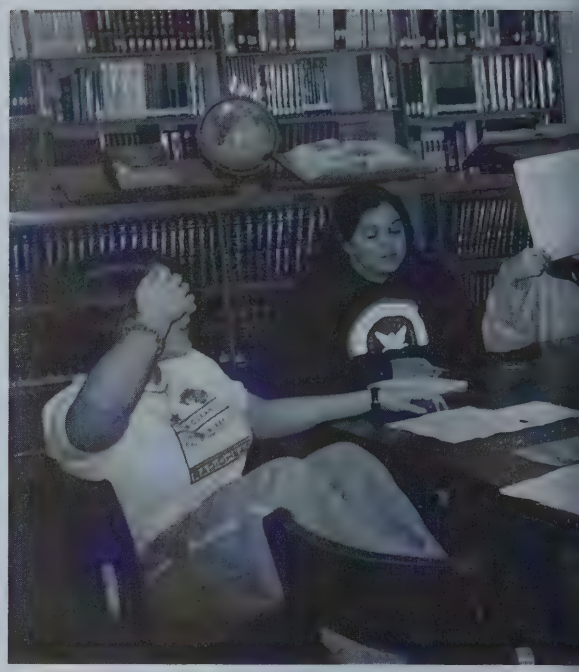
Top 10 Quirks of THS

10. Who needs a pool when we can stroll down the halls for the same effect? (Where do those warm spots come from?)
9. Cafeteria classrooms.
8. Our very own skating rink (doubles as a football field off-season).
7. Though A block may begin at 9:15 in room 214, it ends at 9:04 one room over.
6. The pothole lot.
5. The Hill.
4. "Old Faithful" (the geyser).
3. "Old Faithful" (the teacher).
2. The sinking wall (see room 224).
1. Over-fortified water. (Fact: THS students have virtually no occurences of vitamin deficiency.)

"Argh. It's raining."
"We're in luck... The puddles on the catwalk aren't too deep yet; so we might make it across virtually dry if we sprint and dodge the leaks in the roof."
"Let's think about this first. Do we really want to risk it?"
"How about we hold off our trip to guidance until the catwalk's dry? Anyhow, if we really wanna know something, we can always ask Zip the janitor."
"It's amazing how much Zip knows about stuff that's worth knowing about. Besides, I'm afraid that if I go into the guidance office, I'll never come out, it's so small."
"Where do you think Zip would most likely be right now?"
"Right about now he's probably trying to get Ziggy to stop begging for food from the lunch ladies."
"Probably. I just found out that our lunch bell is actually sounded with a metal fork or spoon."
"You're kidding... it is?!"
"Yeah. We've been eating lunch here for how long?... and I always thought the bell was automatic, since it sounded so nice."
"Uh oh, there's the bell to be in A block! We'd better hike down to the auditorium!"
"I'm thinking that we need a shuttle bus or maybe an underground tunnel joining the school to the auditorium."
"Well, there is actually a tunnel and a bomb shelter between the two, but I'd rather not know what's down there."
"Ouch."
"You okay?"
"Yep. I always manage to trip down these stairs... They're such an awkward size."
"I know the feeling... I'll miss the forum when it's gone."
"Me too. Shoot me for sounding sappy, but the forum really is the heart of Tantasqua."
"Yeah."
"Yeah, the heart."
"Are you up for chasing the resident geese by the pond after school?"
"Are you up for slip-n-slide?"
"Since when have I not been?"

◄ A new sign awaits a new building.



The juniors have had an arduous road to travel, but they have done it in style. The juniors were the first to experience the wrath of the MCAS exams, and have shown wonderful leadership, and responsibility.. Now that they're about to become seniors, it's time to party . . .

Juniors

We have been able to pass the first three years of high school by having fun, learning, and making friends. We did not have to think seriously about next month or even next week.

Now, as we celebrate becoming Seniors, we must think about the future. We must think about college and what we want to do with the rest of our lives.

1999 has come and we will never party the same way again. It is time that we become adults.

"...we must think about the future... It is time that we become adults."

Nick Ferron

He is first in the Junior class. He has a 4.49 GPA. He is in all honors classes. Need we say more? I don't think so.

Nick Ferron, our Academic Spotlight, seems to shine in every single class he's enrolled in.

Nick is a member of Thomas Jefferson Forum, Student Council, and the varsity football and track teams.

He strives for a competitive college and job for the future. With all of this, his hopes for the future are simple. He wants a wife, kids, and a home.

Nadia Aslami

Most of us would like to find the secret to increasing the number of hours in a day. To discover the answer, you may want to try consulting with Nadia Aslami, our Extra-Curricular Spotlight.

Nadia is a member of Student Council, Thomas Jefferson Forum, math team, homecoming and prom committee, the school improvement board, and the American Cancer Society.

Nadia doesn't stop there, though. She is an editor of the Student Life Section of the yearbook, class vice president, president of the spirit committee, and co-founder of the Tantasqua chapter of Best Buddies.

What can be said except, "Wow!" How does she do it?

Arin Vasil

A student does not have to be in every school activity to be involved in something big. Arin Vasil, our Out-of-School Activities Spotlight, has been dancing for 12 years, which is an accomplishment in and of itself.

She dances five days a week and has competed in state-wide competitions. Arin has won various awards at her dancing school and, as you can tell, is very dedicated.

She wishes to continue dancing in the future.

Andrew Wood

Faster than a speeding bullet. Is it a bird, is it a plane? No, of course not! It's Andrew Wood, our Athletic Spotlight. Not only did he beat the Tantasqua course record with a time of 14:18, but he has also came in first place in every dual race he ran in. This helped to lead his team to an undefeated record for the season. Suprisingly, Andrew's running career began with the seventh grade Harvest Run and no prior running experience. For now, Andrew is hopting to be a member of the varsity baseball team this upcoming season.

Crammed into a new school, forced to fight for breathing room against an endless mass of older students, the sophomore class has persevered and has shown that it, too, is part of Tantasqua.

Sophomores

As the seniors prepare their farewell celebration, the sophomores prepare for the closing of their first year in the High School.

But the sophomores are looking forward to two more years of memories, because not only are they going to party like it's 1999, they're going to party until they leave Tantasqua in 2001!

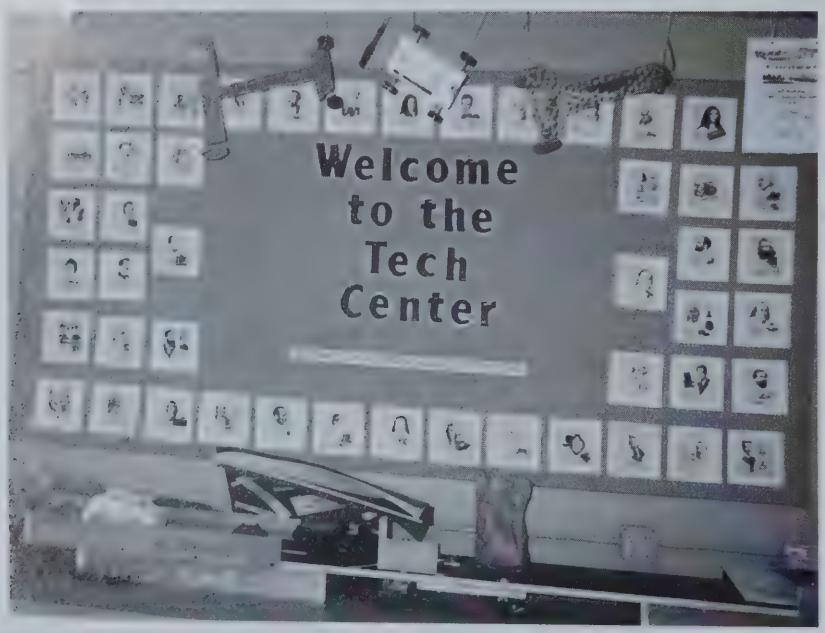
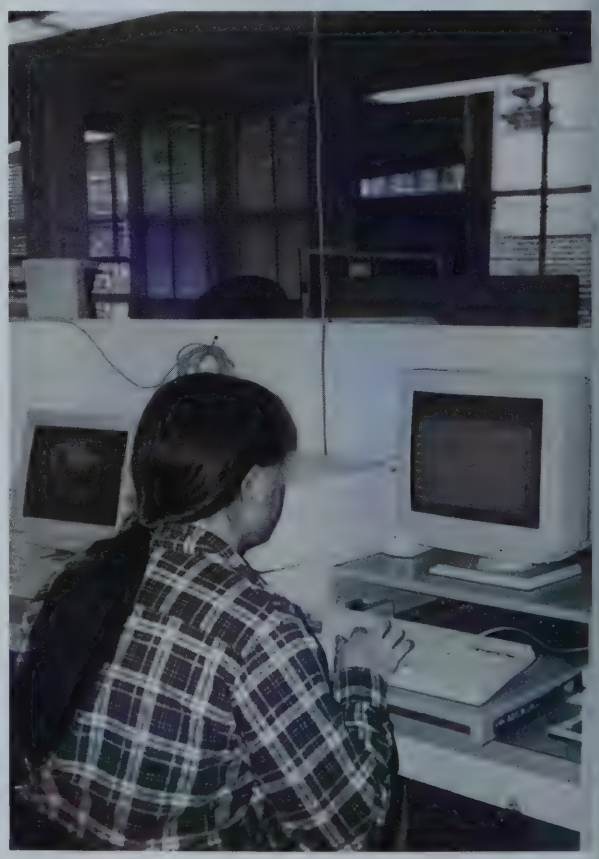
Thousands of years ago, technology made wheels go round. Today it makes the world go round.





Technical

Technology is the rage of the new millenium. For all of its advantages--speed, ease, efficiency--there are an equal number of frustrations.

As students of technology at Tantasqua, we celebrate the gift of understanding and exploiting the technology that surrounds us.

We enter this school a year earlier than our academic counterparts, immerse ourselves in the study of a vocation we enjoy, and never have to ask the question, "When will I use this in real life?" The things we practice now will be directly applicable to our future careers.

All of us will be more than prepared for the constantly changing new millenium. Our final day at Tantasqua, we will celebrate two times as much as the academic students, because only we will have a diploma and a vocation to call our own.

"Only we will have a diploma and a vocation to call our own."

Allied Health

Allied Health is a two year program open to juniors and seniors that leads to potential certification by the Department of Public Health as Certified Nursing Assistants or to possible employment as Home Health Aides.

Allied Health I meets one block a day all year and concentrates on anatomy and physiology and medical terminology. Using the lab area of the classroom, students practice taking care of patients with specific medical problems using various types of equipment. Students learn to measure temperature, blood pressure, and pulse rate, and to provide general comfort measures. They are also certified in CPR and First Aid. Field trips to area health care facilities round out the program.

Allied Health II meets two blocks a day throughout a student's senior year; two days a week students spend in a classroom learning extensive medical terminology and related health theory and practicing clinical skills, and the other three days are spent in actual health facilities.

In mid-September students work on medical-surgical units at Harrington Memorial Hospital and "shadow" in departments ranging from ER to Obstetrics/Pediatrics. In mid-December they move to Quabog Nursing home to care for the elderly, and in March each student is assigned an "internship" in a chosen health area at a variety of local facilities. Allied Health II students are also re-certified in CPR and First Aid.

In May, the seniors in Allied Health II take the state certified nursing assistant test, which involves both a written and a practical exam administered by a state official. Those who pass are qualified to take the Home Health Aide tests.

Carpentry

Tantasqua Regional High School's comprehensive school setting enriches us by exposure to a diverse, all-inclusive, real-world environment.

Tantasqua carpentry students, through an environment of mutual respect, are expected to excel to their highest possible academic, social, physical, and emotional potential.

The carpentry students, by means of integrated academics, instructional hands-on learning, problem-solving, and critical thinking, will develop a positive attitude and work ethic which will improve the students' employee value and quality of life.

Tantasqua Regional High School carpentry program students graduate as motivated and well-prepared for higher learning and/or a professional career in the rewarding field of construction technology.

Electrical

Tantasqua's Electrical Department is a two-year program with two instructors, Mr. Manseau and Mr. Bracken.

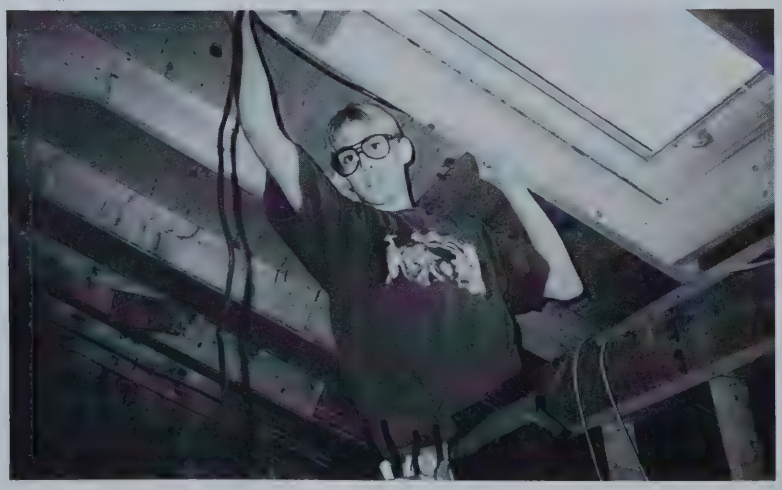
Junior electrical students spend half their day in academic classes and the other half engaged in electrical training. Of their electrical time, the majority is spent in the classroom with Mr. Bracken studying electrical theory and code. The remaining electrical training for the juniors takes place in the shop with both instructors.

The senior electrical students spend the first period of each day in academic classes and the remaining three periods in electrical. Their time is divided into Motor Lab training, classroom activities, and working off-site on community-based wiring projects.

This year, the students have wired the house project, the Brookfield Common gazebo, the Brimfield Fire Department offices, and numerous smaller jobs both in and away from the school building.

Some of the graduates go into the armed services or on to advanced schooling, but the majority enter the electrical workplace as apprentice electricians. After about four years of "on-the-job training," they become licensed journeymen electricians.

Traditionally, graduates have been quite successful in their careers. This year's crop holds great potential and are sure to make Tantasqua proud.



Drafting

The students enrolled in Tantasqua's drafting program will be learning a variety of skills. Over the year Mr. LaBelle will teach them basic drafting techniques, exercising them on drawings of geometric figures and basic mechanical parts. Inter Program Design contests such as bridge building and Velocipede race (first held in May 1998) prepare students for a competitive workplace.

The veterans of junior year Drafting take the skills they learned and shape and perfect them. Once again, under Mr. LaBelle's leadership, they go back to the drawing boards and design rooms, houses and products. They work on CAD much of the time. They modify other drawings, correcting mistakes and designs not up to code. Seniors choose between architectural, civil and mechanical drafting.

Many of them will go on to college and take their knowledge to the next level.

Computer

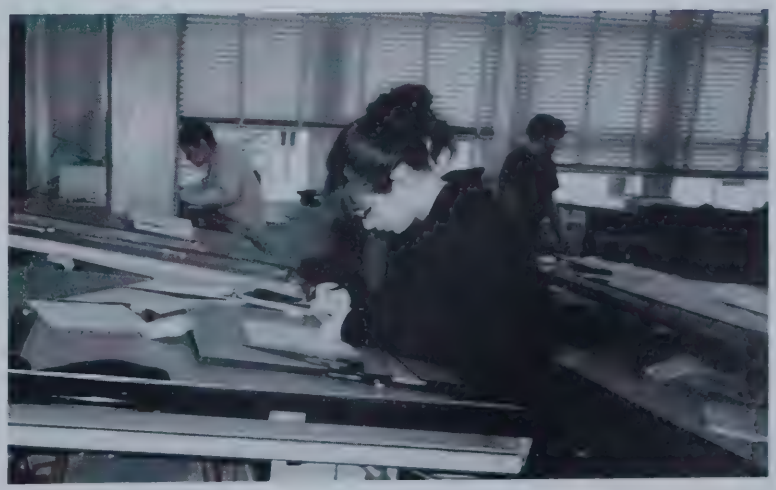
In its first year as a full course, the computer technology class has accomplished a great deal.

The purpose of this course is to learn about the computer inside and out. Whether it is taking apart a PC or making computers from scratch, this class does it all.

The goal of this course is to take the A+ Certification Exam, which is an industry standard in the field of computer repair technology. By the end of their senior year, the students should have enough experience and knowledge to take this exam.

This year the class has devoted much of its time to repairing and upgrading the school's computers and sometimes even the faculty's home computers.

Not only have the students gained knowledge in this field, but also the people they have serviced have benefited much from the students' skills.



Machine Shop

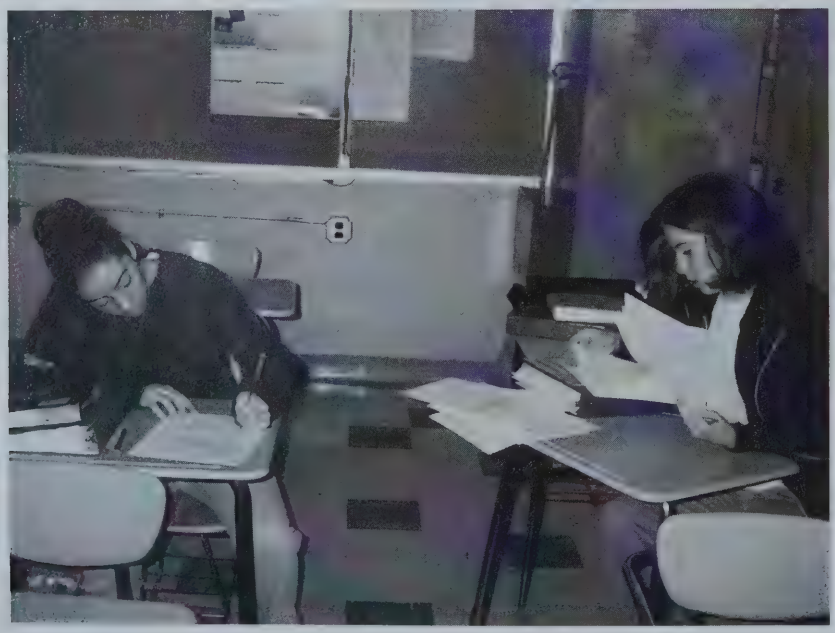
Everybody needs to find a job that fits him or her. When we looked at a lot of different jobs, here is what we found out about machinists.

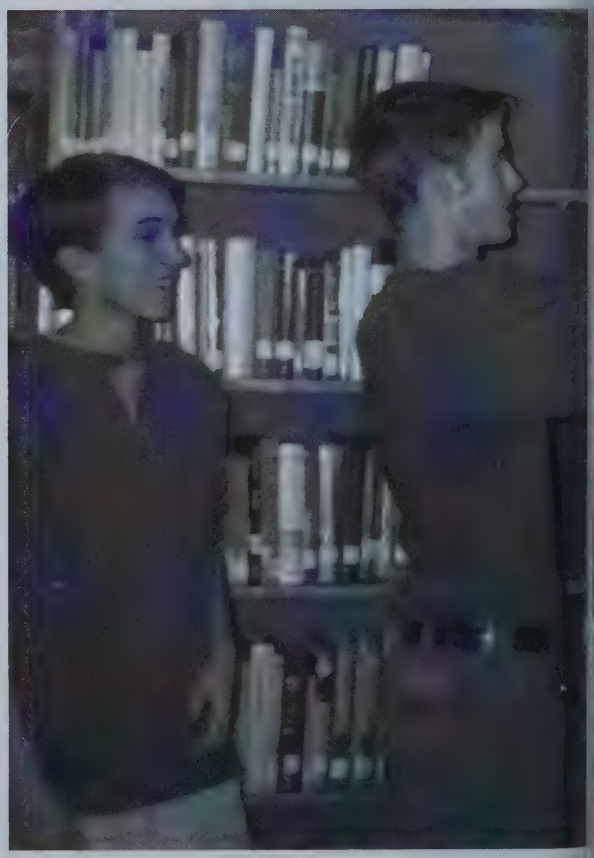
Machinists do things that no one else can do. They live and excel in a world where things too small to see make a big difference. They possess special skills and unique knowledge.

Machinists do real work in a world full of man-made stuff. Machinists make real things like cars, jet planes, production tooling, precision instruments, and a better America.

Machinists end up to be more honest, hard working, and slightly better adjusted to life than the rest of the world in general. It comes from making a career in a professional world of exact specifications and real deadlines. It seems to show their character. Machinists just seem to be clearly superior human beings, which is why we are proud to be machinists.

The more you participate, the more enriched your life becomes. You are able to affect others in ways you may have never thought possible.





Activities

The students at Tantasqua Regional High School don't need any tips on how to have fun, but in between all of this partying, they find time to make the most of the various opportunities that can be found here.

Whether it be writing a newspaper article, decorating the halls, playing the drums, learning to swing dance, or counting pennies, students take advantage of all that is offered.

Here at Tantasqua there is something for everyone, and if not, it won't be long before a new group is admitted into the array of organizations that make up this school.

We get involved and do it all, and with a smile!

"Here at Tantasqua there is something for everyone."

The philosophy of the Tantasqua Student Council is to leave a positive mark on the school environment and the student body that it governs, as well as the community that it serves. Through teamwork, cooperation, and organization, the Student Council is dedicated to improving our school and community for the benefit of all. The council is divided into committees in an attempt to utilize the skills of every member. These committees are organized and led by responsible individuals so that the entire council may function as effectively as possible.

The goal of the Student Council of Tantasqua Regional High School is to provide the student body and surrounding community with many beneficial activities and opportunities, so that they may have an influence on their school and community lives. In an attempt to achieve these goals, the council has planned and carried out many activities, such as holding spirit nights, organizing and holding our annual Homecoming dance, hosting our annual Blood Drive, running spirit weeks within our school, and sponsoring motivational guest speakers.

These activities not only boost the students' school spirit and motivation, but they assist in carrying out the council philosophy to be committed to serving the school and community.

School Representatives

School Committee Reps

School Committe Representatives are elected by the student body and serve one-year terms as members of the Students Subcommittee to the School Committee. At School Committee meetings, the student reps report on all major Tantasqua events, including sports scores and student activities. The student reps also field questions posed by School Committee members and comment on school policies and programs such as block scheduling.

School Committee members enjoy hearing input from student representatives and seek their opinion when making decisions pertinent to the student population of Tantasqua.

School Advisory Council

▲ Monique Perron, Christina Mancini

The School Advisory Council is an organization which connects high schools throughout Massachusetts. Each level of the School Advisory Council has a voice and an influence on decisions that are made in the school system.

Representatives of this school serve as members of the Regional School Advisory Council (RSAC). Some members of RSAC are elected to serve on the State School Advisory Council, which works with the Massachusetts Board of Education to resolve issues which occur in high schools across Massachusetts. Through this chain of students who are interested in improving schools, problems can be brought to the attention of those who can help to fix them.

Improvement Council

Student reps to the School Improvement Council serve two-year terms and work with administrators, teachers, and community leaders to draft school improvement plans.

Much of this group's work is behind-the-scenes though its manifestations can be seen in School Committee policy and student organization initiatives.

The student reps have helped developed a survey that uncovered some target areas for improvement

National Honor Society is one of the many service organizations that reside at Tantasqua. The members are expected to uphold the four ideas upon which they were inducted into this society: Scholarship, Service, Leadership, and Character.

There are four positions to which members can be elected once they have served on the National Honor Society. These positions are President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer.

A few of the projects that the National Honor Society takes much pride in include a St. Patrick's Day Dance, Thanksgiving and Easter Bake Sales, and Holiday Christmas Baskets for local needy families.

Members are expected to participate in all of the projects that are held, and are responsible to makeup any events that they may be unable to attend. Members additionally perform individual service projects benefiting the school and community.

Thomas Jefferson Forum is a community service based organization open to anybody who attends Tantasqua. The Forum is led by a board of directors consisting of five dedicated members. This board of directors is responsible for bringing possible community service projects to the attention of the membership. Annual Thomas Jefferson activities include volunteering at the Quaboag Nursing Home, raising money for the St. Jude's Children's Fund, attending the Platelet Drive put on for the Dana Farber Institute, and the Relay for Life. The Forum meets periodically to update and supply interested members with the information necessary to actively participate in any event. Elections are held each year by the membership to elect the directors for the year to follow.

The members of the yearbook committee are proud to present you with the finished copy of the 1999 Tantasqua Regional High School Yearbook.

The students see it as just the finished product, but the members of the Yearbook committee look back on all the work that was done to make it so. They remember each line, each caption, each picture, and each page.

Whether it be selling ads, cropping pictures, developing layouts, or identifying people, it takes hard work, organization, dedication, and desire.

Each and every member of the yearbook committee will look back and will remember their efforts in creating this year's yearbook. Individuals may create the moments, but the yearbook staff captures the memories.

The Choraleers are a select group of Tantasqua musicians. Using their superior vocal abilities, these students sing madrigal and A Cappella pieces of music.

Rehearsing after school, with Mrs. Buma as their director, they have succeeded in making this school a much more musical place.

Not only do they show-off their abilities at the school concerts and at the fall soccer games, but they have been known to sing along with the marching band at the football games.

Internet Club

Internet Club Members

Christopher Fey, Tim Vasil, Mr. Keenan (advisor), Brian Sinnott

The Internet Club was formed last year with a wide range of purposes. Its main goal is to manage the Tantasqua school website, located on the Internet at http://www.tantasqua.org.

In a typical meeting, Internet Club members learn a variety of new skills. Some meetings are spent talking about developing web pages, others for programming, and still others for simply learning how to turn a computer on and use its basic functions.

Every member is encouraged to share his or her personal knowledge. Most of the time, members help each other on an individual basis, but they can also teach a lesson to the entire group.

Students themselves lead the meetings and determine its agenda. During most meetings, computer software is used to edit the web pages on the school Internet site and add new pages to it. Guidance bulletins, academic course descriptions, and information about various sports and clubs are all posted online on by the Internet Club.

The Ballroom Dancing Club may only be two years old, but dancing leaders Monique Atallah and Kelli Metcalf, as well as faculty advisor Mrs. Dunn, have all twenty members swinging every-other Wednesday afternoon away.

Waltz, swing, cha-cha, rumba, tango and all the party dances are covered in club time. Basic steps are always learned (or reviewed) each day, with additional steps and turns added when appropriate.

Music is provided, and modern hits provide great breaks from the sappy oldies for which the dances were originally created. This casual club is a blast for everyone involved. New members are always welcome.

Sports

During the '98 and '99 sports seasons the Tantasqua Warriors brought home many victorious wins as well as some losses.

Through the good times and the bad our athletes maintained Warrior pride and Tantasqua's reputation of great sportsmanship.

With the help of the new athletic director, Mr. Casaceli, the sports program was able to reach new heights and achieve more school spirit. The Tantasqua athletic program will likely build off this momentum in the future.

"...our athletes maintained Warrior pride and Tantasqua's reputation for great sportsmanship."

Football

Led by captains Jake Liro, Tom Laprade, and Craig Olszta, the Warrior football program had another year of ups and downs.

The somewhat disappointing record was highlighted by a 20-0 shutout over South High in Worcester.

Next season, the Warriors aim to establish themselves as a power in the Southern Worcester county League, thus earning even more respect for their program.

Cross Country

The cross country team was ready to run from day one. The returning seniors were able to get the team off to a great start and never turn down the intensity. This resulted in an undefeated season for the Warriors, including several upset victories--their first in many years.

Additionally, Andy Wood set a new course record for the 2.7-mile course, beating the previous time by over 13 sec, clocking in close to 14 minutes.

Boys' Soccer

The boys' varsity soccer team, under the coaching of Keith Ventimiglia, completed the 1998 season with a record to be proud of.

Despite many struggles during the season, the varsity team still put together a winning record. With the leadership of senior captain Brendan Malvey and junior captain Keith Romano, as well as hard work and dedication, the Warrior squad managed to defeat Fitchburg and advance to the second round of districts. They had a very successful season.

Next year, the varsity crew will lose many talented seniors. However, this is not discouraging to the returning players. They are looking forward to another prosperous season in 1999, in hopes that they will take part in another district birth.

Fall & Spring Golf

Honor, pride, and a tradition of excellence-that is the weight that the Warriors carried on their shoulders at the beginning of the season.

The team maintained composure throughout the season and finished with a respectable record. The team had an equilibrium of talent with young upstart sophomores,such as David Nelson, Andrew Wynne and Sean Tunstall. The leadership was prominent on the team with four seniors, Scott Baldrachhi, Eric Krans, Al Letendre, and Mike Lynch.

During the fall season the team maintained Warrior pride, despite the loss of the seniors.

Boys' Basketball

Under the coaching of Bob Fowler, the Tantasqua Boys' Varsity Basketball team once again improved its record from previous years. Though some may look at this season as a disapointment, you may view it as a stepping stone for the future of the program. The Warriors refused to give up and showed great sportsmanship and determination on the court. Their desire to win and have fun had fans on their feet and teammates cheering each other on throughout the entire season.

The Warriors were led by junior forward Brent Kenneway and senior captain Garret Holland. Sophomores Doug Adriance and Josh Skowyra both had outstanding first varsity seasons. The other captain, senior Brendan Malvey, led the team on the floor. His leadership throughout the season helped the Warriors pull away with a few close ones.

Even though the team didn't consist of many senior players, they definitly had a lot of talent. This year's team followed the lead of Senior captains Kristy Brogan and Rachael Turkington, both of whom had great seasons and helped to make a very successful team.

The team had the distinction of not only winning a district game, but doing so on the home court. The win is the last one that will ever be seen in the old gymnasium.

With many young players, this team looks forward to continued success despite the loss of Rachael, their leading scorer.

The 1998 Tantasqua varsity baseball team struggled to a 4-14 record after a slow start. The team was led by senior captains Rich Treadway and Bryan Teasdale.

Loaded with underclassmen the Warriors kept a positive attitude and never seemed to give up hope. The varsity experience gained by the underclassmen will surely make for promising future years.

Tantasqua's Softball season in the spring of 1998 was led by captains Sarah Romano and Kristy Downing and Coach Ciprari. They struggled at times, but had a successful season overall. They worked hard and achieved many goals. The 1998 season was a very fun-filled season for many of the team members, and memories of the night game against Southbridge remain clear in their minds.

The six seniors will be missed by the team, but they will have a stong team stepping up to the plate in 1999 to make homeruns that will close the century successfully.

Boys' Tennis

The 1998 Boys' Tennis Team had a very successful season under the leadership of Coach Lucas and captains Shawn Lemerise and Jon Palmer. Although a fairly young team, the players were hard working and determined.

The team as a whole displayed great improvement over the season. This determination, hard work and improvement helped the team gain their title of League Champs and gave them a win at Districts.

Their greatest victory of all was their win over Shepard Hill.

This team had a wonderful season that gives hope for an even stronger season in the spring of 1999.

Girls' Tennis

The 1998 girls' tennis team had a rebounding record of 11-9 over all and 10-6 in our league, coming back from the previous season with a record of 2 and 14.

Through hard work and dedication the team was a success and went to the first round of districts, where they fell to Shepherd Hill. Hopefully the team of 1999 will be as successful and supportive as the team of '98.

Captains, and seniors, Katie Baron and Susie Carpenter as well as seniors Amanda McGann and Erica Corry will all be missed, on and off the court.

They had a great season thanks to Coach Parker.

Spring Track

The Tantasqua outdoor track team was ready for a great season. Everyone on the team was always determined to give it all they had at each meet. Switching to a new division wasn't easy, and although other teams were sometimes intimidating, glorious victories would settle their nerves. When they did lose, however, they realized losing wasn't everything and that there would always be another year to try again.

Congratulations.
Love, Mom and Dad

Dara,

From cool whip bowl to graduation cap. The years have gone by so quickly. I am so proud of you, and will always be there for you.

Congratulations!
Love always, Mom

Dan,

From your first day of school to your last. We are so proud of you!!

Dad, Mom,
Shaun and Nicole

Beth,

You always were a sweetheart and our ray of sunshine! Reach for the stars and follow your dreams! We love you.

Mom, Dad, Laura, Cyndy and Carey

Pamela,

It's been a stort 12 years for us, but semms so long to you. Believe in all you do and have faith in yourself. Your a wonderful young lady. We have been very lucky, all our love.

Mom and Dad (also Sheba and Shania)

Nate,

Wishing you good sailing throughout all the days of your life!

Love, Mom and Dad

Matt,

We love you for your warmth, your humor, and your enthusiasm. We're so proud of you!

Congratulations and love,
Mom, Dad, and Tim

"Your life has been a tapestry of rich and royal hue... an everlasting vision of the everchanging view..."

Congratulations!

The last one!
Thank you Tantasqua.
From the Mazzaferro's.

Left to right:
Vinnie (99), Paul (98),
Anthony (97), Carl (94)

From babies,
to boys,
to men,
we are so proud of the gentlemen you have become!

Much love,
Mom and Dad

Tim,

As long as we can remember, you always seemed determined to reach the top. Your persistence, hard work and desire to be the best have made you what you are today.

As you embark on your new journey of life, continue practicing these traits, and you will never face an obstacle you cannot overcome.

We are so proud of your success and accomplishments, and will always be there for you.

With love and best wishes,
Mom, Dad, and Arin

Seems like only yesterday you started school... Congratulations and good luck, Chad! Your future is bright in whatever you choose to do.

Love, Dad and Laura, Jeff, Michelle, and Nicole; Mom and John, Jeremy and Matt

Dave,

You have always made us proud in everything that you do. We know that you will continue that tradition as you begin the next phase of your life.

With love, Mom, Dad, and Leigh

Dearest Sandy,

Watching you grow up into the wonderful young woman that you are has brought us so much pride and happiness.

We know that you'll continue to blossom, and we'll always be here for you. Live happy, honey!

We love you!

Love,

Mom, Dad, Iris, Rebecca

Jillian,

God blessed us with you and you have never failed to be a source of tremendous pride and joy! We love you!

Mom, Dad and Ashleigh

Jared,

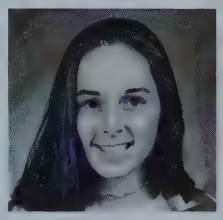
For your parents, 1999 has come too soon. It seems like yesterday that you arrived as a "special gift". We'll miss the little boy, but are so very proud of the man you've become.

Congratulations,

Mom and Dad

As you step into your future, may you always remember each other fondly.

Congratulations to you all!



Congratulations, Lee. The years have flown by so fast. Through it all, we have been so proud of you. I wish we had another 18 years to raise you all over again. We truly do love you.

Love, Mom and Dad
Congratulations, Lee.
We love you!

Love, Grandma and Grandpa

Best wishes to the class of 1999 for peace and happiness.

Congratulations, Jason. Lots of love in all that you do.

There's no doubt about it: We partied like 1999. But every party must end, and this past school year is no different.

We close the doors behind us, bringing away those memories of the party we all shared during the past year and the simple snapshots preserved within this book. We can look back at these simple pages and once again hear the music, see the faces, and feel the party.

Give us twenty years, and we'll reopen this book to laugh at the things we said and the choices we made, then place it back on the shelf.

From here we'll go on to bigger, more important things, but one thing will never change. We will always have memories of our years together at Tantasqua.
